COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to develop basic English conversational skills in American culture, employment, academic, and day-to-day situations for the ESL student. Pronunciation, vocabulary and simple sentence patterns will be emphasized. Vocabulary development, the basic writing process, and oral presentations will be demonstrated. Emphasis will be placed on oral and nonverbal communication. Lab assignments will be individualized. This course may be taken as a developmental credit class or through continuing education.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Students successfully completing this course will be able to:

1. Focus communication skills including listening, speaking, and pronunciation.
2. Ask and answer questions, reword statements, and ask for clarification.
3. Understand the cultural aspects of language and their influences on American society.

POLICIES

Student Expectations—Students are responsible for regular and prompt attendance. Students are responsible for completing in-class and homework assignments.

Attendance—Three or more unexcused absences may result in a drop of a letter grade for the course. It is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor of an absence prior to the missed class. In the event that the student cannot notify the instructor of an absence prior to the missed class, the student should make all efforts to notify the instructor as soon as is reasonably possible to avoid any grade deductions.

LAB

Work in the lab is to be arranged with the instructor.

INSTITUTIONAL ACCESSIBILITY STATEMENT

ADA Statement-- The Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act require that no otherwise qualified person with a disability be denied access to, or the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination by any program or activity provided by an institution or entity receiving federal financial assistance. It is this Section 504 mandate that has promoted the development of disability support service programs in colleges and universities across the country. Subpart E of Section 504 deals specifically with this mandate for institutions of higher education. While it does not require that special educational programming be developed for students with disabilities, it does require that an institution (public or private) be prepared to make appropriate academic adjustments and reasonable accommodations in order to allow the full participation of students with disabilities in the same programs and activities available to nondisabled students.

Midland College provides services for students with disabilities through Student Services. In order to receive accommodations, students must place documentation on file with the Counselor/Disability Specialist. Students with disabilities should notify Midland College prior to the beginning of each semester. Student Services will provide each student with a letter outlining any reasonable accommodations. The student must present the letter to the instructor at the beginning of the semester.
