COURSE DESCRIPTION

Intermediate Spanish language skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing within a cultural framework. Students will acquire the vocabulary and grammatical structures necessary to communicate and comprehend at the intermediate level. Prerequisites: SPAN 1412 or equivalent.

REQUIRED PARTICIPATION IN AN ONLINE CLASS

Students must actively participate in an online class by completing an academic assignment required by the instructor by the official census date. Students who do not do so will be reported as never attended and dropped from the course.

This is a Canvas-based course. If you are dropped from Canvas and lose access, you are no longer enrolled in this course. Note that if you are dropped in Canvas, you may still show as enrolled on MySpanishLab, but enrollment in MySpanishLab does not constitute official enrollment.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to do the following:

COURSE POLICIES

Other Costs: Aside from the cost of your e-text (or hardcopy) and MyLab Spanish access, you will be required to pay any fees associated with the proctoring of your midterm and final exam. If you physically take the exam at the Midland College Testing Center, there will be no cost. Most colleges and universities charge $25-50 per exam. ProctorU charges $25.

Lab: Students will fulfill the lab requirement online by registering for MyLab Spanish and completing assignments involving reading, writing, listening, and speaking. In a 16 week term, students should expect to spend about two hours a week working in the online lab. On the other end of the spectrum, students in an mini-semester class should expect to spend about two hours a day working in the online lab.

Class Activities, Assignments, and Exams: Each topic will contain a variety of assessments and activities, including MyLab Spanish activities, a Canvas practice (which can be attempted unlimited times, with Canvas recording the highest attempt) and a Canvas quiz, which is timed, and can be attempted once. There will, additionally, be a midterm and final exam. In a 16 week term, students should expect to spend about two hours a week working in Canvas. On the other end of the spectrum, students in an mini-semester class should expect to spend about two hours a day working in Canvas.

Proctoring: The midterm exam and the final exam in this class will be proctored by ProctorU (www.proctoru.com) or by the official testing center of an accredited college or university. Your proctoring information is due to your instructor a minimum of 48 hours before your exam, though your instructor reserves the right to specify the period of their preference.

Course Schedule: Is listed in detail on Canvas, in the Calendar section, in the Modules section, and at the bottom of the Syllabus section.

Communication Policy: Instructor will typically reply to your messages and posts within 24 hours. Response is not guaranteed during weekends and holidays.

Assessment of Objectives: Canvas and MyLab Spanish auto-grade all submissions. If you find a discrepancy, please contact your instructor. Written submissions and discussions will be graded using the rubric posted on Canvas. Spoken submissions will be graded according to the rubric posted on Canvas.

Grading: Quizzes, midterms and finals, will be graded manually by the instructor after Canvas automatically grades submissions, usually within one week of the due date. Practices on Canvas will be graded automatically. MyLab Spanish activities will be graded automatically.

Grading of Dialectical Variations: Though there are infinite dialectal variations in the Spanish language, students are asked to adhere to the presentation of Spanish in the textbook, especially when it comes to vocabulary. This is by no means representative of what is "right" in the language itself, nor does the instructor believe that a prescriptive approach is a good one. However, for the sake of grading purposes, it's necessary to limit the variables of answer entry in this course. Therefore, "correct" answers on Canvas come from Arriba, which has been carefully selected by the department as an excellent textbook.

Use of Online Translators: Will not be permitted under any circumstances.

Student Contributions and Class Policies: Students are expected to keep apprised of the course schedule. Late work will not be accepted without a valid doctor's note or similar documentation to explain late submissions. Communication is a key element of an online class, and you are expected to check your email frequently, as will I as your instructor. Web classes are not self-paced.
